It was Princess Mary's express wish that 'every sailor afloat and every soldier at the front' should have the present. The gifts were devised in October 1914 and intended for distribution to all who were serving overseas or at sea, in time for Christmas 1914; afterwards, with the fund in surplus and many feeling they had been 'left out', distribution was extended more widely to all who were serving, whether at home or abroad, and to prisoners of war and the next of kin of 1914 ...
